SATURDAY, JANUARY 11, 1908.

There is no need of crowing over the recent poultry show; it spoke for itself.

The "favorite son" business in presidential affairs is being worked overtime again.

Although six feet, four and a half inches tall, Vice-President Fairbanks is said not to have reached the height of his ambition.

When Editor Hildreth of the Newport Express and Standard goes South to spend the winter as usual, his Vermont editorial brethren will go with him—in spirit.

A FAIR WARNING.

The fire in a large schoolhouse at Rutland Town yesterday afternoon emphasized anew the importance of safeguarding the lives of the pupils. It was extremely fortunate that all of the 250 children escaped from the structure without injury. Fire drills at frequent intervals, fire escapes on any building, from which egress is difficult, and more precaution to prevent fires are three things absolutely demanded to protect the children. School directors and commissioners in every town in Vermont should take due warning from this Rutland fire, albeit there were no serious consequences in loss of life, and take the steps above outlined, at once.

A REMARKABLE MAN.

It is quite remarkable that a New York man has been discovered who admits that he has "read very little" about the Thaw case. He may have been reading only expurgated editions of his home papers, if he reads at all. Still, it is possible for a man, if so willed, to pass over this picture of the abnormalities of life as depicted in the column after column that is printed about this sensational case. But where the testimony is cast up before his face in howling, shrieking type, it is hard, very hard, to avoid assimilating some of the stuff.
 It is noteworthy that the conduct of the trial is not being so sharply set out in relief from the other news of the day, as it was in the first trial of the case.
 It is needless to say, perhaps, that the New Yorker above referred to soon found a place on the jury bench.

A GOOD CHOICE MADE.

Burlington is to be congratulated on capturing the American Institute of Instruction convention, which will bring several hundred teachers from all parts of the country to that city next July.
 It is quite fitting that as the home of the state university Burlington should secure the honor; and the remainder of the state will naturally be pleased that Vermont, through Burlington, will be thus signally honored. In a great many ways, the selection of a small city like Burlington is to be preferred to that of a larger city, with all its better-sketter rush, for a national educational convention, such as the American Institute of Instruction is. The comparative quiet there afforded gives time for close attention to the work of the convention, which is, of course, the matter of primary importance. Fraternal conventions are more or less of a jaunt, anyway, and the varied diversions of a large city do not interfere so much; hence, the large city is the natural selection for them. But in the case of the assemblies where real attention to detail is required, a city of Burlington's class is Science Siftings.

Cases of stammering are reported by English opticians to have been cured by fitting glasses to correct defects of the eyes.

With few exceptions all turbine steam-engines have three shafts with the high pressure turbine upon the central shaft and the low pressure turbines on the wing shafts.

The impression given at the latest exposition in Berlin of invention is that liquid air will soon enter the field as a very serious competitor of steam and electric power.

Animal Oddities.

Bees can easily outfly pigeons.
 The only animal which is totally dumb is the giraffe.

Some insects are mature and marriageable thirty minutes after birth.

A dog in Pittsburgh jumps in autos as they pass near the sidewalk, and the drivers let him ride. Occasionally when two cars are passing in the same direction he jumps from one to the other and generally without accident.

Breases Bring Cement Dust to Kelley—He Makes Cement Blocks.

Burlington, Ind., Jan. 11.—John Kelly, up to a few weeks ago, was a truck farmer, making a bare living. Now he is an opulent manufacturer of cement blocks. His home is two blocks distant from the cement works of the Illinois Steel company, where a $3,000,000 plant grinds slag and converts it into portland cement.

When the wind blows off the lake clouds of cement-laden dust envelop the Kelly home and the Kelly truck farm.
 The owner in the hope of saving his garden greens, recently constructed a huge shield of the billboard type at the rear end of his lot, facing the cement plant. When the cement dust comes his way it strikes the board and falls in a pile at the base of the shield. Then all that Kelly has to do is to scoop up some gravel, mix it with the cement and mold the mass into blocks—for which he finds a ready market.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Adelaide Klein is studying French and wants to play "Camille" in the original.

Jess Dandy will be the star in "The White Hen."

It is rumored that Wilton Lackaye will present Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex" next season.

Katharine Goodson, the English pianist, writes to her American managers that she has obtained some interesting novelties by French and Russian composers which she will present for the first time on her next American tour.

William Haseltine, of Augustus Daly's old company, has been engaged to play the lawyer, Pickering, in the dramatization of "The House of a Hundred Candles," which will be produced by James K. Hackitt.

Joseph Hart is preparing a new ballet, "The Spirit of the Press," for the variety theaters.

When the late Charles Coghlan died he left an unfinished play which he was writing for the use of his daughter, Gertrude. It is now being completed by Miss Coghlan's husband, Augustus Piron, Jr.

The Matterhorn.

Many mountains which long enjoyed a reputation of being absolutely unclimbable are now considered as almost ordinary excursions. The Matterhorn for many years repulsed men who were among the foremost mountaineers of the day. Professor Tyndall and Edward Whymper were followed on more than a dozen occasions.
 But on July 15, 1865, with Lord Francis Douglas, Hudson and Hadow, Mr.
 Whymper eventually reached the summit, and it was in descending that the fatal slip occurred which cost the lives of his three English companions as well as of Michel Croz, one of the most competent of Swiss guides. Now-a-days the peak is constantly ascended (with the help of guides) by tourists who have no pretensions to be mountaineers at all.—Dundee Advertiser.
